

MINERS' STRIKE CALLED OFF; OFFICERS OBEY COURT ORDER

Armistice Day Throng at Park Wildly Cheers Attack on Reds

ADDRESSES ARE HEARD BY LARGE CROWD

Colonel N. M. Holderman,
Rev. Stevenson and L. A.
West Give Talks

WILD applause greeted L. A. West, district attorney, during his speech
at the Armistice Day exercises at Birch Park today, when he said that he would like to see every one of the 7000 Bolsheviks and anarchists, recently found by Federal operatives to have been fomenting a plot against the American government, placed aboard transports and returned to the lands
whence they came.

Attorney West referred to Bolshevism
as "that obnoxious, reprehensible, anarchistic doctrine which is seeking to set up a soviet form of government in place of the American republican form of government which has been tested and tried and which has found a place in the heart of every true American citizen."

The speaker used as his subject
"The Value of the Armistice to the Civilian." He called attention to a number of the grave problems which arose in America simultaneously with the ending of the war.

"I think any man in America would be recreant to his duty who did not devote all his energies to help solve those serious problems which are now confronting the nation," he said.

More Than 1000 Present

More than 1000 men, women and children were present at the exercises at Birch Park. Every bench in front of the speakers' stand was filled. The audience listened with deep attention to every utterance of the speakers,
who, in addition to Attorney West,
were Colonel N. M. Holderman, hero of the Argonne and Rev. J. A. Stevenson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and who recently returned from Y. M. C. A. service overseas.

The exercises were opened by the singing of "America" by the audience and by the High School Girls' Glee Club, led by Clarence A. Gustlin. An invocation was delivered by Rev. P.
F. Schrock, pastor of the Congregational church.

Early in the program an Armistice
Day telegram received by Superior Judge Z. B. West, chairman of the County Council of Defense, from Governor W. D. Stephens, was read by Chairman R. L. Bisby. The Governor's message read, in part:

"America is indeed proud of all her sons who served. In all the world there have never been any braver or more self-sacrificing men. May peace and prosperity attend them. Please express to them each my deep appreciation and that of the people of the state of California."

Service Certificates Ready

A brief address was made by Judge West, who announced that S. H. Finley had received a supply of service certificates which had been donated to the state by one of the officials of the fuel administration and which will be distributed to all service men upon presentation of discharge certifi-

Can Executed Man's Widow Obtain His Glands is Question

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—The question whether a widow of a criminal brought at San Quentin can demand that his interstitial glands be delivered to her for sale,
may be decided in the courts.

Attorney Nave Coghlan, who defended Anthony Lapara, believes the widow has the right to demand
the glands. Lapara is to be hanged December 13. The prison doctors announced they had received an offer of $10,000 for the glands, which they could not accept because of prison rules.

"Courts have repeatedly held that anything of value belongs to the widow," said Coghlan. "Medical research seems to have placed great value on these glands. Such a case would establish a precedent.
The case will be most unusual."

STATE HOLDING ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—All California today is celebrating Armistice Day—the first anniversary of the termination of the greatest war in history. As a fitting observance of that epochal event for world democracy
all communities of the Golden State are joining in a monster welcome for her 132,813 returned fighters.

Parades, dinners, dances and fireworks displays are included in the day's programs.

By proclamation of Governor Stephens it is a legal holiday in the state. A personal message of greeting from the governor to returned service men is to be read in each community celebration.

Celebrants will pause in their rejoicing to pay tribute to the memory of 3,600 of California's sons who made the supreme sacrifice.

Counties where welcomes previously were given, at their own request are participating in the state-wide event.

As a climax to celebrations in certain communities the skies will glow with bursting star shells, soaring rockets and other fireworks to represent the display that broke forth above the trenches in France when the Germans acknowledged defeat.
San Francisco and Oakland are among these, the latter's display to be staged on the banks of Lake Merritt.

People of many communities gathered in the morning and under the direction of song leaders of the War Camp community service expressed in song their thanks for the end of the war and their appreciation of the men in the service. Appropriate songs have been selected and recommended by the singing division of the camp service.

A parade of service men in the county will mark the day at Fresno.
Golden scrolls, prepared as a testimonial from the state for those who gave their lives, are to be presented to relatives of the honor men.

CLEVELAND IS CHOSEN FOR LEGION MEETING

HINES WILL GIVE RAIL MEN HIS ANSWER

Brotherhood Leaders Are Meeting With Director
On Wage Demand

By RALPH F. COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Representing approximately 200,000 men, Presidents W. G. Lee and L. E.
Sheppard of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors, are meeting with Rail Director Hines today to hear his decision on requests for immediate wage increases.

The trainmen asked raises averaging forty per cent and the conductors thirty per cent to make scales comply with increased living costs. Demands of both organizations were submitted early last summer and examined by the railroad wage adjustment board.

The rank and file of both organizations are threatening the strike unless the demands are met, it is emphasized.

Hines, it is presumed, will call the attention of the Brotherhood officials to an alleged decrease in the cost of living of approximately 15 per cent as reported by the statistics bureau of the labor department.

President Sheppard said before the conference that no matter what Hines' reply is, he will call for a refendum in his organization. President Lee also is expected to call for a vote.

Await Answer of Hines

Officials and the rank and file of the other twelve big railroad unions are anxiously awaiting the result of today's conferences having a hearing on demands presented by them.

The fourteen railroad unions are acting in conjunction through their railway department of the American Federation of Labor, according to Sheppard. Through this department 500,000 railroad shopmen recently demanded wage increases averaging 23 per cent.

Hines, at the suggestion of President Wilson, previously offered an increase of three per cent. The shopmen accepted the offer and called off a strike, which already had begun ordered. They served notice, however, that the strike was postponed only to give the government a reasonable time in which to force decreases in living costs.

"The reasonable time," was roughly defined as three months. This period is now regarded as having expired.
Through their officials the shopmen
are now expected to make new representations to Hines.

Before the meeting with Lee and Sheppard, Hines is expected to discuss the general railroad labor situation with the heads of the four big brotherhood unions.

Cabinet Calls Operators And Heads of Strike to Conference Next Friday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The government following official ending of the coal miners' strike today took steps to bring about a settlement of the differences that resulted in the nationwide fuel tieup. The cabinet decided to call together immediately the operators and miners. A telegram was sent to leaders of the mine workers and to the mine owners asking them to meet in Washington on Friday. The government it is believed has a plan of tentative settlement to submit to the conference and will ask both sides to come into the conference open minded and without reservation.

Copies of the order rescinding the strike call were being sent by wire out of Indianapolis today and others were being placed in the mail for all local unions. When the men return to work will depend largely on how soon they receive these orders.

Reports from some districts available this afternoon indicated the men would promptly obey the order.
"There are several courses under consideration, several instrumentalities that may be employed," declared a high official who is close to the president.

Secretary of Labor Wilson, who was understood to have opposed the Indianapolis injunction, indicated as he entered the meeting that the bureau

Federal Agents Continue Search for Red Agitators

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Holding warrants for many "reds" who eluded them in the recent raids, department of justice agents continued their search today for radical agitators in several cities. William J. Flynn, chief of the department's bureau of investigation, said the hunt would not end until all dangerous "reds" had been rounded up and deported.

Thirty-nine alleged members of the Union of Russian Workers captured by government agents, were at Ellis Island, awaiting deportation. Thirty-five other prisoners taken in custody
by the police were still awaiting arraignment on "a federal charge."

James Larkin, Irish agitator, and Benjamin Gitlow, former socialist assemblyman, from New York City, arrested by the Lusk legislative committee agents will be given a hearing tomorrow.

They were arraigned yesterday on charges of criminal anarchy and held in $15,000 bail each, the specific charge against them being the publishing, editing and circulating of the magazine known as "The Revolutionary Age."

An I. W. W. branch was raided by police last yesterday when portraits of Carl Marx, Lenin and Trotsky,
and 300 pamphlets in a foreign language, said to favor bolshevism, were seized.

Three men arrested in the place
were released after examination.

LABOR HEADS' DECREE GETS QUICK APPROVAL WHEN READ BY JUDGE

Strike Officials Reach Decision to Recall Order In Eighteen Hour Session Where Appeals Were Made to Americanism and Lawyers Advised the Course Decided Upon; Notices Were Sent Out Before Six O'clock.

By J. L. O'SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 11.—The United Mine Workers of America have complied with the "order" demanding recall of the strike "in good faith" in the opinion of Judge A. B. Anderson.

The recall order was submitted to the judge shortly before 10 o'clock by attorneys for the miners. After looking over the order the judge said:

"I think this is proper and I think this is a good faith compliance with the order."

"That was the intention of the union officials," said Henry Warren, counsel for the miners.

The order follows:
"To the officers and members of the United Mine Workers of America:
"Dear Sirs and Brothers:

"In obedience to the mandate of November 8, by the United States district court, district of Indiana, Judge Albert B. Anderson presiding, the undersigned hereby advise you that the order of October 15 directing a cessation of mining operations in the bituminous coal fields of our jurisdiction is withdrawn and cancelled.

(Signed) "Fraternally yours,
"William Green, Secretary.
"John L. Lewis, Acting President."

"We will comply with the mandate of the court. We do this under protest. We are Americans. We cannot fight our government."

Statement Issued Following 18 Hour Meeting.

This was the statement issued by Acting President John L. Lewis at 4:15
a. m. today, following an eighteen hour conference with other union leaders at the Lincoln hotel here.

"There is no question about the strike of coal miners being ended," one of the highest officials of the United Mine Workers told the United Press.
"We expect the men to obey the withdrawal order. All of the power and influence of the union will be brought to bear immediately to get the men to return to work. We expect argument in some quarters for a few days, but we are confident union members will look at this in the same light that we do."

In a voice shaken with emotion, Lewis pronounced the words that will officially end the strike of 400,000 coal miners started on November 1.

Lewis plainly showed the strain under which he had been laboring for the last ten days. His face was lined and tired, his voice husky and his hair disheveled.

When the members of the executive council, the scale committee and the district presidents of the United Mine Workers of America emerged from the meeting room, they showed the effects of a hard fight. They were sullen and tired. They went to their rooms immediately and all refused to add to Lewis statement.

The utmost secrecy was maintained by the conferees during the night and day. The doors leading to the conference room were carefully guarded. The decision to call off the strike was not reached until after strenuous opposition had been made by a group of miners who wished to defy the court order.
Through the closed doors of the meeting hall could be heard the sounds of leated debate. At times the voices were loud and angry.

However the sentiment of Americanism prevailed.

Attorneys Advised Compliance With Court Order.

Attorneys for the union were called into the conference room several times during the eighteen hour debate. They advised compliance with the judge's ruling, it is known, and this advice had a strong influence on the final decision.

Immediately after the meeting adjourned many of those who attended hurried to catch trains to return to their local posts. They will direct the men's action under the strike order withdrawal.

There appeared to be no question that the union officials intended their action to be a bonafide ending of the strike.

"Our greatest fear is that the men will think we are merely taking this action to comply with the court's order and not with the intention of ending the strike," said one high official.

"We are not withdrawing the strike order with a wink of an eye. We are going to use everything in our power to induce the men to return to work."

The withdrawal order was drafted early today. It must be in the mails at 6 p. m. today.

No vote was taken at the conclusion of the debate, it was understood. All of the 106 men in the conference room who wished to state their views were given an opportunity to do so.

"Lewis merely listened," one official said.

The deciding power was in Lewis' hands. After he heard the expres-

Judge Cox and Cupid Joe Backs played good samaritans and rolled out of bed at the unexpected hour this morning to send the two young people on their way and hasten their pilgrimage upon the sea of matrimony. County Motorcop Roy Ballard and City Motorcop Frank Stewart had a hand in bringing about a consummation of the happy event.

The marriage had something of the semblance of the result of a dare, according to one of the witnesses. Accompanied by three friends, the couple arrived here about 2 o'clock this morning and went to Tony's restaurant, where they found the eating place about ready to close. The prospective groom tipped the man in charge and told him not to close, that a wedding dinner-breakfast was wanted later.

meet again late today.

Council members were nearly unanimous in the belief that the rank and file of the miners will return to work. The union will then be in a position it was emphasized, to call a new strike when peace is ratified and the Lever food and fuel act is repealed.

Sooner or later, labor leaders said, the miners must fight a final battle with the operators.

The nation's supply of coal is very low, due to the tie-up of more than a week and mining records must be broken if a serious shortage is not to be experienced, it was learned. The most optimistic officials felt the miners probably would not be in a mood to break records.

Surrender of the strike leaders left the American Federation of Labor in an awkward position, it appeared. Sunday night the executive council of the federation issued a statement pledging full support to the miners and denouncing the court. It now seems the federation will have nothing to support its stand, unless it takes over control and direction of the mine strike despite the action of the mine leaders. This possibility was being discussed here today.

ates. In giving the certificates to Charles D. Swanner for distribution, Judge West said that it was fitting that a man of Swanner's stature, who had served in France, should be given the duty of seeing to the distribution of the certificates.

"Fifteen Minutes in the Contonments" was the title of Rev. Stevenson's address. The speaker awoke in his hearers once more the deep emotion which all had felt a year ago today upon the receipt of the news that the armistice had been signed.

"This is Armistice Day," Rev. Stevenson said. "Why, every day is armistice day now. But for the sublime self-sacrifice of the American soldier in France we would not be here today, observing the anniversary of the signing of the document which meant the end of the war. Today is Armistice Day. Tomorrow will be armistice day, and every day thereafter, because of the gratitude there is in our hearts for the brave men who made victory possible."

Thoughts of Loved Ones

"On the day the armistice was signed there were more than two million soldiers in France. I believe that of all those Americans there was not a one whose thoughts, even during those trying days when a large part of them were pushing forward toward the German border, were not with the loved ones at home. I found in the contentments that one could never talk confidentially for very long with one of our doughboys without he brought out a packet of photographs. He managed to carry those pictures, somehow, everywhere he went. While his thoughts were with those he had left behind, his eyes were constantly ahead."

"The American soldier in France had but one object, but one aim, and that was to crush forever that sinister thing, conceived in a spirit of diabolical materialism, which had for its object the domination of the world."

"I saw things in France, on those battlefields that have been made immortal, which are written indelibly on my memory. And I saw some things that I shall never tell you about. But there are some things that I can see even now. I can see, at Belleau Wood, 2,200 white crosses, and I can see, at the cemetery at Romagne, 22,000 white crosses, marking where our brave men fought for those principles that we hold most dear."

"They Shall Not Pass"

The speaker referred to the battle cry that was made imperishable by the French soldiers at Verdun. "They shall not pass."

"But there is one motto which was in the hearts of the American soldiers as they went forward, against fearful odds, in the Argonne forest. 'We will pass,' Rev. Stevenson continued. 'The Americans did pass, through the Argonne and on to the heights around Sedan, and we would be remiss in our duty did we not dedicate our lives to the fulfillment of those ideals which inspired our brave soldiers to the unshakable determination which was theirs.'"

Graphic details of the fearful obstacles encountered by General Pershing's men during the drive in the Argonne were given by Colonel Holderman in the course of his address. Holderman was enthusiastically applauding several times when he paid ringing tributes to the bravery and soldierly qualities of the enlisted men in the American army.

"I want to tell you," said Holderman, "that it was the enlisted man who made victory possible. I tell you that you can't beat the man in the ranks. The American soldier is the bravest soldier in the world."

Soldiers Tribute to Courage

The speaker was interrupted by cheering.

"The Americans in the Argonne went against armies that were versed in everything known to military tactics. The Germans were brave men," said Holderman, paying a soldier's tribute to a courageous enemy.

How the Germans, after the French had made several unsuccessful attempts to take the Argonne forest, put in more than three years fortifying their positions, until the forest was considered well nigh impenetrable, was told by Holderman. When the speaker told of how the American army had been chosen, by an Allied conference, to launch the drive on the Argonne positions unassisted by Allied units, he was roundly applauded.

Details about the construction of German machine gun nests in the Argonne were given by the speaker.

"The nests were so cleverly constructed," Holderman said, "that it was impossible for our advancing men to tell where the fire against them was coming from. The casualties in the Argonne were exceedingly heavy. But our men went forward despite almost unsurmountable odds."

Huns Could Not Understand

"Often by the time a squad reached a machine gun nest, all but two or three men out of the squad would be left in action. But these two or three went on, and it was this that the Germans could not understand. Our ranks were constantly filled up by replacements from the rear, and this constant drive ahead finally started the Germans in their retreat, which, despite their assertions to the contrary, was far from orderly."

"The Argonne battle began on the morning of September 26 with a barrage that lasted from two o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock. The guns were hub to hub for miles. As far as you could see there were flashes of red against the sky, where the guns were hurling their shells at the German lines. At 6 o'clock the Americans went over the top. The battle lasted for fourteen days, and continued night and day."

"The American enlisted men are sions of the other union officials, he ruled that the sentiment was undoubtedly in favor of compliance with the court order.

"We were placed in the situation of being called 'yellow' by the miners if we rescinded the 'strike order,'" said one district president.

"If we defied the court we would be anarchists. We are Americans first and we placed our country before our union."

Most of the speeches centered on the question of Americanism, it was learned.

Many of the men born in foreign countries, declared they could not go against the government of their adoption, although they believed their cause was just.

The miners' strike was ordered in a call sent out on October 15. The national officers were authorized by a national convention held in Cleveland in July to call the strike if their demands were not met by mine operators.

These demands included a sixty-hour day, a five-day week and a six per cent increase in wages. After conferences were held in Buffalo and Washington, mine operators refused to accede to the men's demands. The strike was ordered.

Refused Wilson's Appeal

President Wilson, declaring the strike was illegal, appealed to the miners to withdraw the strike order. At a meeting of the executive council, the district presidents and the scale committee, held in Indianapolis on October 29, the miners' leaders refused to agree to the president's request and the strike order stood.

The strike went into effect at midnight October 31. Four hundred thousand miners quit work. Coal production was reduced by 75 per cent. The entire supply of coal above ground would have been exhausted in three weeks from the time the strike started, according to estimates.

The first step in the court action which brought the withdrawal of the strike order was taken before Judge A. B. Anderson in the United States federal district court here October 31. Judge A. B. Ames, assistant attorney general, asked for a temporary restraining order preventing union officials from furthering the strike and from paying strike benefits. The appeal was granted.

Judge Anderson last Saturday issued a mandatory order demanding union officials recall the strike order before 6 p. m. today.

Declaration of Peace May Bring Second Strike Order

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 11.—The formal declaration of peace will bring with it a new strike order to the coal miners of America in the opinion of William L. Harrison, president of the Alabama Federation of Labor, who today characterized the injunction of the federal court as the "rankest, most flagrant outrage ever perpetrated against free people."

"The fight has only begun," said Harrison. "It is only temporarily halted. As soon as we find out that the war is over, we are going to see to it that, so far as the mine workers are concerned, the fight is going on until they are given the fullest degree of justice and liberty that they are entitled to as free American citizens."

wonderful, and time and again I have wished that I was in the ranks with them. They had absolutely no thought of danger. When you told one of them to get down, that he was being fired upon by enemy machine guns, he merely wanted to know, 'Where?'

Holderman called attention to the fact that all branches of the service were deserving of credit for the final victory.

In addition to songs by the girls' glee club, the High School Band rendered several fine selections under the leadership of Clarence Gustlin.

Mrs. Russell Coleman beautifully sang "Welcome Home," an effective composition by Gustlin. Mrs. Coleman was in excellent voice, and her solo was received with appreciative applause.

The exercises concluded with a rendition of the national anthem by the band, with the audience singing.

PET CORNS

Few Drops of "Freezone," Then Left Corn Right Off

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs so little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon any corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off with your fingers. Truly! No humbug!—Adv.

Tuesday afternoon there will be an automobile tour to the U. S. Plant Introduction Gardens, located four miles southeast of Chico. Mayor S. A. COFFEE IN PAPER BAGS

Big Savings in Price Through Elimination of Expensive Tins

In these days of advancing prices, when the constantly-increasing cost of living is a subject of deepest concern to people in every walk of life, any idea which tends to reduce the cost of one of the every-day necessities (without a corresponding sacrifice in quality) is assured of a most hearty welcome.

It goes without saying, therefore, that the plan of an enterprising firm of Southern California wholesale grocers—which provides a means of supplying the very best grade of fresh-roasted coffee, with all its goodness intact, at a saving of approximately ten cents per pound—is predestined to success right from the start.

The method is simple but only possible through the possession of exceptional facilities for frequent deliveries. It is generally understood that coffee begins to deteriorate from the moment it is roasted—which has made necessary the use of tin packages where coffee is liable to remain in stock for any length of time. This is most expensive, because the price of tin has advanced during the past few years to an extent that adds approximately ten cents to the cost of a pound of coffee packed in that manner.

To meet this condition and make it possible for the consumer to avoid this useless expense, the Smart & Final Co., large wholesale grocers of Santa Ana, with distributing warehouses in other cities of Southern California—from each of which a fleet of trucks radiates throughout all the intervening territory, insuring frequent deliveries to every grocer—has placed upon the market a coffee of the highest grade, put up in one-pound, airtight, waterproof paper bags. This coffee is roasted and ground by them daily, and delivered to the grocers throughout the territory in small quantities—so as to always keep their stocks absolutely fresh.

In fact, the buying of large quantities is unnecessary and is discouraged, because immediate delivery of fresh-roasted coffee can always be made—thus eliminating the necessity for tin packages altogether.

So timely has this innovation proven, and so spontaneous has been the response, that it bids fair to revolutionize the coffee business of Southern California. In fact, the Smart & Final people have already been obliged to install an immense coffee roasting plant in Santa Ana in order to properly care for the demand.

The new coffee, which is declared equal to any on the market, is being put up under the name of "ORANGE BLOSSOM" and is carried in stock by all modern grocers throughout the section.

"Pape's Cold Compound" Then Breaks Up a Cold in a Few Hours

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffing! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a severe cold and ends all gripe misery.

The very first dose opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine. Insist upon Pape's!—Adv.

COMBINE BUYING OPPORTUNITY IN POWER IN BIG COMPANY

Citrus Orchards Company Organized For Handling Large Projects

ANAHEIM, Nov. 11.—County Supervisor Wm. Schumacher, of Buena Park, is president of the new Citrus Orchards company which has been formed in this end of the county to buy, sell and cultivate citrus property.

Thomas Edgington, manager of the Benchley Fruit company, Fullerton, is treasurer and Major E. J. Marks is secretary. Robert Strain, the man who organized the company and who is the one who made it possible, will be manager.

A board of control of seven members was elected by the subscribers at a meeting. These men who will have general charge of the workings of the company and who will be responsible for its management are Robert Strain, William Schumacher, Major E. J. Marks, D. S. Lineberger, John Gardiner, W. L. Benchley and H. A. Schreiner.

As has been stated, the company is a mutual co-operative association of Orange county men who will combine their buying power for the purpose of handling orange properties. The company will buy and sell and will also hold and cultivate groves and sell the crops.

Shares are on a basis of payments of $20 a month for five years. The number of units already taken is almost a hundred. The limit of units is placed at 500, which means that if they are all taken the company will have a paid-up capital stock of $600,000 in five years.

The idea back of the company was worked out by Robert Strain, who has long been engaged in the orange business. He realized that the average man can do very little toward handling them. He worked out the idea that if a number of men combined, they could provide a sum of money which would make it possible to go into this line of business to the best advantage.

The company is the best possible answer to the remark often heard from eastern visitors that citrus land values are inflated. The company is composed entirely of Orange county men who know local conditions thoroughly. They are willing to put their own money into orange groves. It is hard to think of a better answer.

PRIZES FOR FLYERS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Prizes won by flyers in the Trans-continental air race will be distributed at the first annual reunion and dinner of aviators—army, navy, postal and civilian—here tonight.

The idea was first suggested by officials of the American Flying club, under whose auspices the event is to be held, as a get-together celebration of former service flyers on the first anniversary of cessation of hostilities.

Several flyers were to reach here by airplane from various flying fields to attend the dinner. Major Maurice Connolly, who is in charge of the arrangements, said today he had advised that a fleet of six ships will fly from Langley Field, Va. Other flyers will come from Boston, Dayton, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, St. Louis, Detroit and Minneapolis.

Speer, Jesse Mack, H. R. Terhune, W. E. Hauser and Ben Hein.

NAVY OPEN TO KODAKERS

Amateur Photographers Can Make Excellent Use of Knowledge

The amateur photographer can make excellent use of his knowledge in the navy, according to J. F. Hedrick, local recruiting officer, who recently established his office in the Spurgeon building.

"If he enlists as an apprentice seaman for aviation, he will be sent to a training station to obtain necessary knowledge of general naval work, and after a brief time will be given instructions in photography," says Hedrick. "Upon demonstrating his ability in this line, he will be promoted to the rating of printer (aviation), which is the non-de-kodak of naval photographers. If he is thoroughly qualified, he may enlist as apprentice seaman and be given the rating of printer, third, second or first class, or chief printer, as the case may be. This opportunity, however, is open only to men with a thorough knowledge of photography.

"His work in the navy will have to do mostly with map making, which has come to be an important form of aerial activity. Photographs are taken from aloft and then pieced together into a mosaic map by the men who have photographic training."

TUB SPENCER IS COMMITTEES OF GRAND JURY

National League Player Working For Amalgamated Oil Company For Winter

FULLERTON, Calif., Nov. 11.—"Tub" Spencer, one of the best known big league baseball players in the United States, is now a resident of Fullerton, residing on West Commonwealth. He is a native of Pennsylvania and is as familiar with the oil field workings as he is with baseball, and that is going some. "Tub" is a catcher and derives his name from the style of a tub and was of great assistance to pitchers. A pitcher had to be wicker than the deer that gored Al Jennings to miss "Tub" behind the plate.

Spencer started out in the big game many years ago and was a sensation for a time when he suddenly dropped from sight. He went on one of those personally conducted affairs along the Great White Way and got lost to the general public.

One day in Boston a friend met him on the street who knew what a remarkably good ball player Spencer was, and interested himself in "Tub" with the result that the latter staged a come-back which attracted more attention in baseball circles than any one of recent years.

He played in some of the big clubs of the National League and then went to Detroit, where he was their principal backstop. At the close of the season, he, like many others of the big leaguers, came to California to spend the winter. "Tub" picked Fullerton as the ideal spot for a winter sojourn and has secured a position with the Amalgamated Oil Company.

It would not be surprising if he did not organize a baseball league among the oil workers this winter. There is some great baseball talent working in the local field.

PRIZES AWARDED IN AD WRITING CONTEST

The advertising-writing contest, in which the clerks at the Gerrard Bros. stores in Santa Ana have been engaged for the past eight weeks, came to a close yesterday and the management has found it so successful that a contest is now being promoted in which the customers of these two stores will write the ads. In the contest which just closed two sets of prizes were given. Three cash prizes for the best ads as judged by the Register advertising department and three cash awards given to the clerks who received the most votes from the public. Eight advertisements written by the clerks have appeared in the Register on the past eight Monday evenings.

The prizes have been awarded as follows:

Customers' popular vote—Miss Edna Rash, first, $2.00; Mrs. Wilkenson, second, $1.00; W. H. Whitehead, third, 50 cents.

Judged by the Register—W. H. Whitehead, first, $3.00; Geo. Jenkins, second, $2.50; Miss Edna Rash, third, $2.00.

All the other clerks submitted advertisements in the contest and the Register found it necessary to figure them down to fine points in awarding the prizes. The store management was so well pleased with the work of the salespeople that a cash prize has been given to every clerk in the contest.

The contest in which the public is to participate is to begin at once. Nobody is barred. All that is necessary is to write out an advertisement and bring or send it to one of the Gerrard Bros. stores in Santa Ana. The ten best ads will be published in the Register on Monday nights. The Register's advertising department has been asked to do the judging and for the three best pieces of copy out of the ten published a nice prize will be awarded at the stores.

The first prize will be a $10 coupon book, good for its face value in the purchase of anything in the stores. The second prize will be a $5.00 coupon book. Third prize will be a quart can of high-grade syrup. Gerrard Bros. want to know just why it is that their customers trade there, and they are taking this interesting means of finding out.

If you want a good social time come to the dance to be given by the Brotherhood of American Yeomen on Wednesday, November 12, 1919, at the Modern Woodman hall. Admission 50 cents per couple. Good music. Doors open at 8:30 p. m.

Criticism and Citizenship

It is the plain, public duty of every citizen to criticize proposed government measures believed to be harmful.

Swift & Company is in a better position perhaps, than others, to understand the meat packing business in all its relations to public and private interests, even though the others may have been giving the subject a great deal of sincere attention.

Swift & Company is convinced that interference with its legitimate business function by governmental agencies, however well intentioned, would be an injury to every man, woman and child who wants meat to eat, as well as to the men who raise the meat and to those who dress and distribute it.

Maximum service that cannot monopolize because of keen competition and lack of control over sources of supply is furnished at a minimum of profit—a fraction of a cent per pound from all sources.

Therefore Swift & Company is taking every legitimate step of citizenship to prevent such interference.

These advertisements are intended to help you, and to help Congress decide what is best to be done. Mistakes are costly and apt to be harmful in these trying times.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Register is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. G. C. Hamilton to the position of business manager of the Register Publishing Company, to succeed H. T. Duckett, resigned.

Mr. Hamilton comes to the Register from the Sacramento Bee, of which he has been assistant business manager and office manager for the past thirteen years. Before going to the Bee he was as assistant business manager of the Tacoma Ledger. He is a thoroughly competent, well-trained newspaper man, a wide-awake, progressive citizen, and a man of the finest character. This is the unqualified and unanimous testimony of those with whom he has worked and been associated in civic and social activities.

Mr. Hamilton's family, which will be a valuable addition to the life of this community, consists of his wife and two sons and two daughters, and they live at 210 Cypress avenue.

Mr. Duckett has been business manager of the Register for the past ten years, in which capacity he demonstrated exceptional ability and absolute loyalty. In his work he not only forever endeared himself to the management and staff, but placed the paper as an institution under deep and lasting obligations. Something more than a year ago he had a serious illness, which left his eyes too weak to stand the strain of newspaper work, and he has decided to postpone indefinitely his return to continuous service.

Mr. Duckett will continue to be a highly honored and valuable member of the Register staff, acting in all all-round advisory capacity.

He retains a substantial interest in the Register Publishing Company, remaining an active member of its board of directors, and continues to hold the office of treasurer.

There are few men in Santa Ana who are better known or more popular than Harry Duckett, and the Register joins his host of friends in the hope that he will find health and happiness in out-of-doors life and his release from strenuous newspaper work. He and Mrs. Duckett have recently established themselves in a beautiful country home in Tustin, and will probably extend their orange grove holdings in Orange county.

ARMISTICE DAY

One year ago today, Germany surrendered. One year ago today, came the peace that ended the most stupendous, the most destructive, the most terrible war of all history.

With the American forces thrown into the struggle at a time when their added strength became the determining factor in the war, Germany had been forced back day by day and week by week since the middle of summer. It was in June that a mere handful of fighting Americans against odds of five to one took Cantigny, and then Buresches and Bois de Belleau. So far as the taking of those places was concerned, they counted but little in numbers of men engaged, in numbers killed and wounded, in material, guns and prisoners taken, but they had a tremendous effect upon the morale of the Allies.

"Vive l'amerique" shouted the French, when they heard of Chateau-Thierry, and their discouragement vanished, and they turned and faced the on-coming hordes of the Boche.

More Americans arrived. They went eagerly into the fight, and they fought with determination. All along the line the Allies struck back, and they kept striking. The Germans were stopped. The Germans began to retreat. The Germans were on the run, and they got no rest. The Hindenburg line crumbled. From Belgium coast to the Swiss border, and over in Italy, every army in the Allied cause fought stoutly and effectively. The Argonne Forest, the capture of which had been declared by the French to be impossible, was undertaken by the Americans, and it was taken.

Austria lost ground. Its defenses were smothered. Her troops became demoralized.

The Central Powers shuddered with apprehension. There was no way to stop the Allies.

Germany threw up her hands, and one year ago today her representatives signed the armistice presented by the Allies. Germany's dream of world power had vanished. Her determination to force kultur and kaiserism upon the people of the earth was broken.

Peace! How that word made the whole world ring! The greatest day since Christ came to earth arrived one year ago today, on November 11, 1918.

And today we celebrate, and it is a day that is celebrated not in one country alone, not by people of one nationality alone, but in many countries and by many peoples.

No country and no people shall celebrate the day that war began. Today is celebrated because of the peace that came one year ago today.

And may it be an everlasting peace!

France Hopeful
Pasadena Star-News

France is optimistic over its financial outlook. Louis Klotz, minister of finance, is very hopeful. He says that the rehabilitation of France depends upon confidence on the part of the people. Confidence, he reminded his countrymen, is as essential in peace as in war. He calls upon the people to bear willingly, for a few years, the heavy burdens which the war has entailed—but these sacrifices, he emphasized, would be small compared with those made by the French soldiery who fought through the war.

France, one year after the signing of the armistice, already is taking up, with brave heart, the gigantic problems of reconstruction. The amazing resourcefulness, the mighty energies of that heroic people are being directed to the upbuilding of what was devastated by the ruthless enemy. Within a few years France will have carried the work of rehabilitation to astonishing lengths.

"Dry" and "Reds"
Fresno Republican

The Association Opposed to National Prohibition asserts, Samuel Gompers confirms, and the Anti-Saloon League denies, that prohibition is largely responsible for the increase of radicalism and social unrest in this country.

Doubtless all of them are more or less right, on literal statements of facts, but none of them are justified in giving any anti-prohibition significance to those facts. Certainly a world view does not show any particular relation between radicalism and prohibition. Russia, where the situation is worst, and America, where it is best, are both under prohibition, while in Central and Western Europe, where it is much better than Russia and much worse than America, drink is unrestrained. And the radicalism of America was at least as bad before prohibition went into effect as it has been since. Superficially it would seem to be a growth which thrives equally well in wet, dry and medium soils.

But if prohibition does produce some radicalism—what of it? So do books and schools and newspapers and free speech and human companionship. It takes some brains to be a radical. It takes, to be sure, more to be a liberal or progressive. But it takes none at all to be a conservative. The man who does not think is "contented" with his lot. At least he has no energy to better it. Workers who were sullen with drink every night may not have been very good workmen during working hours, but at least they were not very dangerous revolutionists after hours. And they were always poor and therefore submissive. They could not afford to strike. That particular sort of "stability" prohibition may have unsettled. And it is not unlikely that some of the minds, unfettered from drink on their way upward to the real enlightenment of liberalism, may have stopped for a while in the lurid half-light of radicalism. It is a sign of progress if they do. The remedy is not to drive them back to the old sullen indifference. It is to educate them forward, from destructive to constructive progress.

Better Newspapers

Charles H. Grasty, in the Atlantic Monthly, writes:

Many readers will remember the beginning of the movement away from partisan and personal journalism (in this country) toward the higher standards of independence. The movement began in the provincial cities, at the time when the morning paper was supreme. The morning paper had not lived up to its opportunities. Most of these papers were at that time used by their editors for personal or political purposes and were deficient in ethics.

As the morning field was occupied, newspapers forty or fifty years ago began to choose the evening field. The general dissatisfaction with the character of the existing papers suggested to the new men different policies, and they turned pretty generally to civic activities on non-partisan lines.

For a period of twenty years or more the success of these newspapers encouraged similar enterprises throughout the country, and such papers as the Chicago News, the Kansas City Star, the Indianapolis News, the Detroit News, the Washington Star, the Buffalo News, the Baltimore News, and many others forged to the front and affected the character of American journalism.

The public confidence which rewarded the optimism and honesty of newspapers that accepted public service as their standard was at the bottom of the great advertising development upon which American journalism now rests. It was natural that papers entering homes and bringing the news into the family circle should, as time went on, become the medium of information between the merchant and the housewife. Confidence in the reading matter columns of the newspapers was gradually and subtly extended to the advertising columns, and the shrewd merchant was not slow to avail himself of this great instrumentality for the expansion of his business.

The High Cost of Living

The following is the statement concerning the high cost of living issued by the United States Council of Defense at Washington, D. C.:

To the Public:

The United States Council of National Defense, composed of the Secretaries of War, Navy, Interior, Agriculture, Commerce, and Labor, has made a careful investigation of the high-cost-of-living problem, and finds:

That the nation's productive powers have not been fully utilized since the armistice.

That too few goods, notably the necessities of life, have been produced, and that even some of these goods have been withheld from the market, and therefore from the people.

That the high cost of living is due in part to unavoidable war waste and increase of money and credit.

That there has been and is considerable profiteering, intentional and unintentional.

The council believes that the remedies for the situation are:

To produce more goods, and to produce them in proportion to the needs of the people.

To stamp out profiteering and stop unnecessary hoarding.

To enforce vigorously present laws and promptly to enact such further new laws as are necessary to prevent and punish profiteering and needless hoarding.

To bring about better co-operation and method in distributing and marketing goods.

To keep both producer and consumer fully informed as to what goods are needed and as to what supplies are available, so that production may anticipate the country's demands.

Goods and not money are the means of life. Better standards of living are impossible without producing more goods. Man can not consume what has not been produced.

At the war's end our allies had desperate need of the essentials of life. We have had to share our resources with them, but this drain will gradually lessen. In so far as our shortage of goods is due to this cause we can well afford to be patient.

NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War and Chairman of the Council.
JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy.
FRANKLIN K. LANE, Secretary of the Interior.
D. F. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture.
WILLIAM C. REDFIELD, Secretary of Commerce.
W. B. WILSON, Secretary of Labor.
G. B. CLARKSON, Director of the Council.

LET BE

Bring not a body home which gave a soul
For Liberty, embattled over seas;
Let be! Let poppies and bright fleur-de-lys
Bloom where They fell while the swift seasons roll:

Or, gathered as one company, the whole
Rest in some park beneath the ancient trees
Of Eastern France, whose soil has been by These Forever made for us a pilgrim goal:

Richer are now the soil and soul of France
For that their blood is mingled with her sod;
Noble are we for having couched a lance
For her in fields that once her Maiden trod:
The Brotherhood of Man has made advance,
Anew we sense the Fatherhood of God.

OBSERVATIONS

A new airplane is said to be able to "stop within 50 feet." Which will add greatly to the safety of flying, especially if those feet are measured vertically.

Continued strikes mean disaster to the country. And such strikes as the steel and coal strikes mean disaster to the strikers.

Stories Salvaged From the Street, Shop and Fireside

By Members of the Register Staff

GEORGE EDGAR HAS SEEN A LOT OF CHANGES HERE

There was once a time, of course, when Santa Ana was in what might be called its swaddling clothes stage—a time when wooden structures still stood on Fourth street, when pavements were as yet practically unheard of, and when life here was more or less bucolic.

But even in those days George A. Edgar, Santa Ana's well known grocer, was already "on the job," selling necessities of life to the town's then limited population.

One department of Edgar's grocery business that flourished greatly was the chicken and duck department. At times, locked up in coops at the rear of the grocery, Edgar would have as high as a thousand cluckers and squawkers.

But what used to get Edgar's goat, if the slang expression may be pardoned, was that a small boy, who, Edgar says, was not "all there in the upper story," made a practice of visiting Edgar's coops and of opening the doors thereof, thereby releasing the major portion of Edgar's stock of hens, roosters and ducks.

In a few moments Fourth street would present an appearance that was far from metropolitan. The thoroughfare would be veritably swarming with feathered visitors, cackling and crowing and squawking at a terrific rate.

Mingled with the outcries of the unfettered fowls would be the shouts of Edgar and several dozen other storekeepers and shoppers in the "business district." For the releasing of Edgar's poultry would of necessity result in a general roundup. Sometimes business on Fourth street would be held up for several hours while shopkeepers and clerks assisted Edgar in getting his feathered charges corralled once more.

All of which shows how tempus fugit. Nowadays, a certain amount of excitement would be caused on Fourth street if even one lone hen should find her way to the now bustling thoroughfares. And—if several hundred ducks and chickens paid Fourth street a visit—well, the result must be left to the reader's imagination.

DIAMONDS

Like any other business, the Diamond business requires long practice and skill in order that one may be able to correctly judge the value of precious stones. Like any other success, there must be laid the foundation of future public faith by the establishment of the right policy in the beginning.

For many years we have been guaranteeing the weight, the cut, the color and the present market value of Diamonds.

This sweeping guarantee has brought us a large measure of success.

Our position as Diamond merchants has enabled us to obtain unusual buying advantages. Our patrons reap the benefit of these advantages in better Diamond values.

Diamonds are constantly increasing in value—they last forever—they never lose their beauty.

A SONG FOR HEROES

A song for the heroes who saw the sign
And took their place in the battle-line;
They were walls of granite and gates of brass;
And they cried out to God, "They shall not pass!"
And they hurried them back in a storm of cheers,
And the sound will echo on over the years.
And a song for the end, for the glorious end,
And the soldiers marching up over the bend
Of the broken roads in gallant France.
The homing heroes who took the chance,
Who looked on life, and with even breath
Faced the winds from the gulfs of death.
Their hearts are running on over the waves—
Over the scarred fields—over the foam—
On to America—on to home!
And a song for the others, the heroes slain
In Argonne Forest—in St. Gobain—
In the flowery meadows of Picardy—
In Belgium—in Italy,
From brave Montello to the sea.
A song for the heroes gone on ahead
To join the hosts of the marching dead.
A song for the souls that could lightly fling
Sweet life away as a little thing
For the sake of the mighty need of earth.
The need of ages coming to birth.
All praise for the daring God who gave Heroic souls that could dare the grave.
Praise for the power He laid on youth
To challenge disaster and die for truth.
What greater gift can the High God give,
Than the power to die that the truth may live!
Glory to the Lord, the Hero of Heaven,
He whose wounds in His side are seven—
Glory that He gathers the heroes home,
Out of the red fields, out of the foam—
Gathers them out of Everywhere,
Into the Camp that is Over There!
—Edwin Markham.

Baptist Men's Club Dinner

The men of the congregation will enjoy a great treat when Dr. A. C. Dixon, the great London preacher, and former pastor of Spurgeon's Tabernacle, will address them on the "Armistice" this evening.
Dr. Dixon was in London when the armistice was signed, and will tell how the English celebrated in London the signing of the armistice. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock, so that Dr. Dixon may address the men before speaking at the United Presbyterian church at 7:45 on "The Temptation of Christ."
All men of the congregation are earnestly requested to attend.

Anniversaries Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hill celebrated the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carden with a turkey dinner on Sunday. As it was also near the birthday of Miss Helen Carden, and only a week from those of Betty Hill and Master Lester Carden, Jr., these events were remembered with a large birthday cake for Miss Helen Carden and smaller ones with one pink candle for each.

Los Angeles Friends Guests

A number of the Los Angeles friends were entertained Saturday evening when they were guests of Ivie Stein and the Grady brothers at a party given at Miss Beverly Duch's residence at 1515 Bush, last evening.
The party motored down and later drove on to Daiboa, where the evening was passed with dancing.
Present were: Misses Ray Wolf, Caroline Chan, Rose Harman, Betty Harman, Gertrude Harman, Rose Keller, Jennie James, Beverley Duch; Messrs. Sam Schenkein, Joseph Spets, Harry Grang, Sam Grang, J. Cutler, Harry Goldstein, Harry Baker, Ivie Stein.

Goddard-Vreeland.

A most interesting and beautiful wedding was that which took place in the early morning of October 25th at St. Phillips Episcopal church, Clifton, when Miss Margery Gwynne Goddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Goddard of Metcalf, became the bride of Walter Raymond Vreeland, son of the late Captain H. Vreeland, of Bayonne, N. J.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, took her place at the altar to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Ehardt, of Clifton. The bride was lovely in a gown of pale gray crepe meteor with picture hat to match. She carried a beautiful arm bouquet of bride's roses and maidenhair fern. The bridesmaid was Miss Elsa Reuter, of Santa Ana, California, who was becomingly gowned in dark gray satin, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and ferns. The groom was attended by Richard Henry Eddy of Morenci. The impressive ring ceremony was read by Archdeacon Jenkins, of Phoenix. The wedding was witnessed only by relatives and immediate friends of the bride and groom.

After the ceremony a three-course wedding breakfast was served at the Reardon hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Vreeland, amid showers of rice and good wishes, boarded the train for El Paso. The bride's going away suit was of navy blue serge with harmonizing accessories.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Vreeland will make their home at Metcalf. The groom holds a responsible position as chemist and assayer for the A. C. Co. at Morenci. The popular young couple were recipients of many beautiful and useful wedding gifts.

Mrs. Vreeland is well known in Santa Ana where she formerly resided with her parents, and has many friends here, as she was a member of the choir of the Episcopal church and took an active part in church organizations. She was also a popular member of the high school student body.

Miss Stump Hostess.

On account of the war, the banquet was omitted last year and no doubt the coming event will make up for the omission as the plans are receiving careful consideration from the

The Chambers Fireless Gas Range

SAVES FOOD

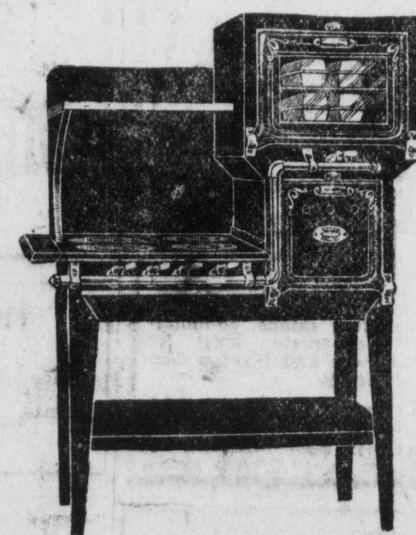

Ordinarily, you get only six to seven pounds of meat out of every ten pounds of meat you cook, while a Chambers Fireless Gas Range will give you eight to nine and a half pounds. The tougher cuts of meats may be used. You can cook cod fish, onions, rice pudding and sauer kraut at the same time without mixing the flavors. The Chambers bakes, boils, roasts, broils, stews, steams or fries anything.

SAVES TIME

With a Chambers Fireless Gas Range you stay in the kitchen long enough to prepare the meal and put it in the oven. By actual test, one-half to three-fourths of the cook's time is saved by using the Chambers—a saving of at least three hours daily in the ordinary family. You can put your dinner in the Chambers Fireless Gas Range at 9:30 and without further work, worry or attention, the meal will be ready for serving any time from 11:30 to 2.

Distinctive Features Real Kitchen Appliance

The Chambers Fireless Gas Range is a combination of the best features of the modern gas range and the fireless cooker, both built into one scientific and thoroughly tested product. It is a real modern kitchen appliance in which there is no loss of energy in operating. It may rightly be termed a scientific, insulated gas range. It cooks at full speed even with the gas turned off, without danger of burning the food. It gives heat to the food instead of taking it from the food as in the ordinary cooker.

MONDAY CLUB'S PAPER DEALS
WITH ATOMSScientific Subject Handled
Interestingly By Major
Carrier

At the meeting of the Monday Club, held last night at the library, the paper of the evening was given by Major Carrier of the high school faculty and was entitled, "The Nature of Matter and Electricity."

The writer of the paper having chosen a subject which to the average layman is extremely technical and difficult, nevertheless handled it in a way that was clear and illuminating.

He spoke first of the great advance that had been made during late years by science from which it had resulted that while few of the former theories had been found to be wrong, these same theories had been immensely extended.

According to the modern theory of matter all bodies are complex structures composed of small particles called electrons.

An atom measures one three hundred millionth of an inch in diameter and its minuteness is appreciated when we know that the most powerful microscope known would enable us to see an object about two hundred atoms in width. Atoms are thought to be spherical, of varying size, weight and about a hundred different varieties.

Atoms tend to form groups called molecules and when the component atoms are all alike the group is called an element. A compound is a substance composed of molecules made up of more than one kind of atom. Hydrogen is an example of the former and water of the latter substance.

Chemical action ensues when a substance is decomposed into its elementary atoms or by attraction different groups of molecules are formed.

Modern science believes that all atoms of all substances are in ceaseless motion and this motion is what is called the heat of a body. The more violent the motion the greater the heat. All substances which do not decompose on heating are capable of existing in three states, viz: solid, liquid and gaseous, and it is contended that these three states of a substance are dependent on the degree of motion in the component atoms.

Cold is a negative state being an absence of heat and speaking scientifically, a cake of ice does not "cool" objects, but simply absorbs their heat. Scientists have estimated that the point at which atomic motion ceases, known as "absolute zero," is at 459 deg. zero Fahr. and, wonderful to relate, this extremely low temperature has been nearly reached in recent laboratory experiments.

Electrons are much smaller than atoms, lighter and of unknown shape and structure. An electron has a diameter of about one hundred thousandth of that of an atom.

It has long been known that electricity is of two kinds—positive and negative—and that charges of like character repel while those of unlike attract each other, but it is now beginning to be held probable that all bodies possess electricity held in a state of balance.

Electrons, then, are attracted to ward all positive charges of electricity and repel each other. Further, negative electricity exists only in the form of electrons and the only way to give a body the negative charge is to put electrons on it. On the other hand, positive electricity never leaves the atom, whereas electrons can be taken from or added to the atom with relative ease.

A stream of electrons moving through a body constitutes an electric current, and in it the impulse is passed on from electron to electron, so that, scientifically speaking, a machine drives an electric current instead of producing it. In like manner, we are furnished by the lighting company not with electricity, but with electric energy and while as much electricity leaves the bulb as enters it, in so doing it develops a violent motion of atoms sufficient to produce heat and light.

It seems probable that the forces involved in chemical affinity are electrical in character, and that charges of unlike electricity hold together the component atoms of molecules.

Moreover, there is good reason for believing that light waves are electrical in character and experiments in wireless telegraphy have demonstrated that while electric waves are slower than those of light they may be said to have the same relation that high and low-pitched sounds are related. The course of light waves can be changed by electric attraction.

Three kinds of light rays have been closely studied in late years, resulting in the discovery of new substances known as radium, helium, etc. Another recent scientific postulate was touched upon in stating that the ether through which the light waves travel, and whose particles are supposed to be a billion times smaller than electrons, increases in density outwardly from all bodies, and this is in confirmation of Newton's earlier theory.

Also that light is transmitted in a circular rather than a direct line, and therefore it follows that there is a limitation to space.

The writer declared that there is not, however, any limitation to electrical energy, and that long after we have exhausted all available supplies of coal and oil, electricity from water power will furnish us with abundant light, heat and power.

In connection with his paper, Major Carrier was asked many questions by the members, and in the discussion it was concluded that scientific theories have, and will always precede, practical application, and that it is thus pioneering into the unknown that has brought our most valuable discoveries.

At the invitation of Fred Rafferty, the Monday Club will, during the winter, hold its meetings at his residence on Tenth street.

The bill tonight will be featured by the presentation of "Checkers," a racing photoplay, and numbers by the Ophelia Quartet.

Thursday night, Trickett Traganza with a company of twenty-five is to present a musical comedy, "Poor Mama."

AUTO LANDS ON CURB
IN MIXUP AT ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Nov. 11.—There was only one auto accident of any importance Sunday and no one was injured at that. Two machines were battered and bruised and sent to the work shops. This accident occurred at Emily and Center streets, principally on Emily as when the crash was over there was a machine landed on the curb on either side of the street. It was Sunday morning when H. M. Wickered of Murietta was driving an Overland west on Center street and butted into a Dodge driven by Fred Pentton of Anaheim, who was turning north into Emily street.

After the crash Wickered's car cleared itself from the Dodge and landed on the curb on the west side of Emily, while the Dodge rammed the rear end of a Reo driven by A. L. Schutz of this city, and then rested on the curb on the east side of Emily.

The Dodge and Overland were both badly damaged but the Reo escaped injury.

Not a driver received a scratch.

Only a Cold

Are you ill? Is often answered—"Oh! it's only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears, take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less the danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.—Adv.

HEFFERN IS REAL WELL;
QUANTITY QUESTION

ANAHEIM, Nov. 11.—The Heffern well—it is now a real well instead of a hole in the ground—is being deepened and tested before cementing.

Since the drill went into the oil sand last Thursday night, 100 feet have been added to the hole, which now stands at 3300 feet.

The strata of oil sand encountered Thursday night was 12 feet thick and other strata are being encountered as the drill goes through the shale.

It is said a perforated pipe will be put in to get the benefit of these various layers of oil sand.

The Chapman well, one of the biggest, if not the largest producers in Southern California, is 20 feet in the sand.

Oil men are now agreed that the Heffern well is a demonstrated success. It only remains to find out just how big it is.

BE PREPARED FOR INFLUENZA

CUT THIS OUT

Many medical men say we will probably have another epidemic this fall. Let us all hope and pray we will not. But at the same time let us be well prepared.

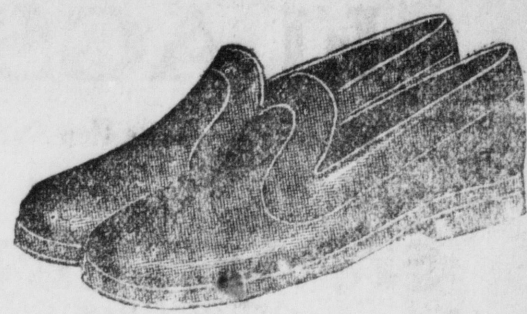

The flu as it is called, usually starts with a cold and tightness in the chest. If you even suspect there is a chance that you may be getting influenza take a good dose of laxative tea, such as Dr. Carter's K & S Tea or Colery King and send for your physician. While you are waiting for the doctor rub Berg's Mustard on throat and chest.

Rub it on freely and never mind if it does feel good and hot. It cannot blister even the tenderest skin.

But don't stop at throat and chest; get some one to rub this enemy of inflammation over your entire back and especially between the shoulder blades. This is one of the most sensible precautions which you can take against pneumonia, which often quickly follows the flu and is just what the doctor tries hard to sidetrack.

You can get Berg's Mustard for 20 and 40 cents in yellow boxes all ready for use at any drug store.

Remember it is made of real yellow mustard. Use it for sore throat, coughs, chest colds, pleurisy, bronchitis, lumbago and all aches and pains.—Adv.

F. E. Farnsworth found Lacy too strong and lost his match on the seventeenth green. George Jeffrey showed too little respect for the "cloth" and defeated Rev. Benton on the last hole. During the week C. D. Holmes won from Ed Parker, with a score of five and three, while Norman Hoyle had no mercy on the President, finishing the match on the fifteen green; Robinson after shooting the first nine in 34, against F. B. Browning dropped off to sleep on the second nine, and woke up to find Browning one up at the finish.

In the Pomeroy cup play only two matches had been played up to Saturday night, H. A. Benning putting out Jeffrey 4 and 3 and Freeman winning from A. J. Twist on the last hole.

Saturday was a very windy day, which was not conducive to good play. There were about thirty players out and each one had a different name to call the breeze and some names would not bear repeating.

One of the regulars, R. E. (Bob) Reid, caused a good deal of amusement when heard trying to convince his opponents that he never makes his bets. Bob generally manages to get the strong partner. Ask F. B. Browning.

The program of the winter entertainments will shortly be announced and mailed out to the club members. Tuesday, a flag tournament will be held, with prizes for the first three.

Billy Evans Sustains Fracture Of His Right Arm at Wrist

Catapulted from their machine when it came into collision with a car driven by M. S. Cloyes, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Evans of R. D. 7, escaped without injuries more serious than light cuts and bruises. Their 8-year-old son, "Billy," sustained a fracture of the right arm at the wrist. The little fellow was taken to the office of a local physician for treatment.

Cloyes' car was not damaged, while the Evans machine was wrecked. The accident is said to have been one that was almost unavoidable, as neither of the drivers saw the other machine approaching the intersection until just before the cars came together.

The Evans machine was going west on First street and the Cloyes car was traveling north on Birch street. The accident occurred about 9:30 this morning. The boy was taken to the office of the physician by John Combs, city policeman.

BORRALL FINED $300 FOR SALE OF LIQUOR

Amount Demanded to Be Reduced $2 a Day—Lathrop Case Pending

For selling liquor, a fine of $300 was imposed upon Sam Borrall in the local court at Orange today. Not having the money with which to pay the fine, Borrall went to jail. Each day in jail will reduce the amount due $2. Borrall said he expects to be able to raise the money to pay his way out.

Last week Borrall and J. C. Lathrop, also of Santa Ana, were arrested on a charge of selling liquor. The case was taken to federal authorities in Los Angeles, who said that it was their wish that the case be handled by the local authorities.

The decision as to the disposition of Lathrop's case was not reached today.

Cruise of 4 Sailors in Alleged Stolen Car Abruptly Halted

BUT for a "hunch" of Constable Jesse Elliott, L. C. Atterberry, 18, J. K. Josephson, 22, H. G. Josephson, 19, and P. B. Chandler, 18, sailors, might not be in jail today.

Elliott saw the four sailor lads cruising around in a Chevrolet at Tustin, evidently trying to get their bearings for the course to San Diego. The windshield had been partially broken out and a pea jacket had been tied over the aperture to keep the breeze from blowing in too strenuously across the bow of the craft.

Elliott's suspicions became aroused. On returning to the sheriff's office he telephoned to the San Diego authorities, and found that a car answering the description of the sailors' Chevrolet had been stolen at the southern city.

Then Elliott telephoned to the constable at San Juan Capistrano, where the four sailors' cruise came to an abrupt ending. The mariners were brought to the county jail and today were expected to be turned over to the San Diego authorities.

WILL SAVE $500 PER MONTH BY USING GAS

YORBA LINDA, Nov. 11.—As a way of reducing the high cost of living, the Yorba Linda Water Company has decided to make use of the increasing supply of natural gas in the surrounding oil fields instead of electricity. The company has sent in an order for a 24-horse power gas engine, which will be placed on the booster pump that raises the water to the main reservoir. The delivery of the engine is expected in time for the next pumping season and will be given a trial of a year, as it will replace a 200-horse power electric motor. It is thought by the company that it will save them $500 monthly in their power bill.

The first pool will not close until the house is able to receive all nuts ready for delivery. Notice will be published in the Register and mailed to all members soon.

Members of the Association are asked to attend a meeting at the City Hall, Tuesday evening at 7:30, prepared to report the amount of nuts held at home ready for delivery. Manager Thorpe must have a report at once of the amount of nuts we will ship, and if you cannot attend the meeting, please phone 249 before Wednesday noon.

Walnut Growers outside of the Association having all or part of their crop unsold are asked to attend the meeting Tuesday evening and explanation will be made as to how we can handle their walnuts. Growers with large or small quantities of nuts are eligible to membership.

KNOTTY LEGAL CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT

Superior Judge Williams today had under advisement a number of knotty legal points in connection with the question as to whether J. A. Buckmaster should be awarded judgment in his suit against Elsie May Bertram, in which Buckmaster charged the defendant with violating a sales agreement involving five lots at Yorba Linda. Arguments by counsel on both sides were heard by Judge Williams Saturday.

Attorney Walter Eden of the firm of Eden & Koepsel of this city attacked the validity of certain procedures used by Buckmaster in connection with registering some of the land in question under the Torrens Title Act, after he had entered into the contract with the defendant. It had been shown by testimony that three of the lots had been sold by the plaintiff after he had summarily notified Elsie Bertram of his intention to cancel the sales agreement. Lee Utley of Los Angeles is Buckmaster's attorney.

NEWLY MARRIED MAN PLAYS IN HARD LUCK

While Doing Friend Favor He Hits Auto and Is Placed Under Arrest

Following the preliminary examination of J. R. Duke, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, in justice court at Anaheim yesterday, he was held to answer to the superior court. Attorney A. P. Nelson conducted the case for the prosecution.

Duke, according to the story he told at Anaheim, following a collision between a machine driven by him and one belonging to G. Grim, on East Broadway, Anaheim, has been playing in hard luck.

Duke was said to have recently been married to a widow in Imperial county. Saturday Duke and his bride were said to have gone to Anaheim for the purpose of removing the widow's two young children from an orphanage there and taking them back home.

While at Anaheim the Dukes stayed at the residence of L. Bowen, on Philadelphia street. Saturday night, Duke said, he agreed to go down town and purchase several lengths of stovepipe for Bowen. Driving along East Broadway, Duke is said to have been suddenly confronted by two alternatives, either of driving into an approaching automobile, or of running into Grim's car, which was standing along the sidewalk. Duke decided to collide with Grim's car. Only slight damage was done.

Following the collision, it is said, officers who arrived on the scene alleged that Duke had been drinking, and placed him under arrest.

The complaint against Duke was sworn to by A. W. Wood. Wood also swore to a complaint against Fred Jones, accusing him of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Duke was released on $1500 bail, furnished by Bowen.

$10 JUDGMENT GOES TO DENTIST IN SUIT

Judgment of $10 in favor of Dr. R. H. Chapin, dentist, of Huntington Beach, in his suit against J. H. Lawrence, was rendered by Superior Judge Williams. The case came into the superior court on appeal. In the beach justice court Dr. Chapin had originally asked $10 of Lawrence. Later in an amended complaint he asked $12.50. In giving the plaintiff judgment the court asked how the additional $2.50 came to be added to the bill. It was done, the court was told, merely to get the case into court.

RED CROSS NOW CLOSING ITS CAMPAIGN

Canvassers Today Gathering Up Loose Ends—Totals Tomorrow

The drive for members for the Red Cross ends today. Today, canvassers are completing their work. The booths on Fourth street and the uniformed Red Cross women at Birch Park today received a goodly number of subscriptions.

District captains and chapter branches and auxiliaries are to make their final reports to the chapter's drive chairman, Mrs. Susie Rutherford, at Red Cross headquarters, 117 East Third street, tomorrow morning. The drive will then be officially completed. There will be a few places solicited tomorrow morning, where canvassers have made special arrangements, but the work of the canvassers is being closed up this afternoon all over the city.

Scores of men and women have stepped up to the membership booths on Fourth street and have laid down their dollars. These are mostly people who did not happen to be at home when canvassers called. They appreciate the value of the work of the Red Cross and are not willing that the drive go by without having their names enrolled for 1920 memberships. Up to noon today over 250 memberships had been taken out at the street booths.

Santa Ana's total up to last evening was 2557. All of the districts have more memberships to report. A number of canvassers who have made no reports up to the present have turned in their reports since the totals given here were made up.

The total for the chapter is now 2637. Only a few reports have been received from outside districts. Three outside chairmen have reported that they have finished. The totals in those districts are: Diamond, 23; Greenville, 43; Irvine, 14.

Business firms that have been added to those showing 100 per cent membership in the Red Cross are the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., Sutorium, Davis Garage, Edgar & Hayes Garage, Remsburg paint store, D. L. Anderson & Co. Grocery, Acme Grocery.

Priced From $6.50 to $20.00

Every mode in our showing of fine waists and blouses is interesting from a standpoint of style, individuality and beautiful material, and we would like to describe each and every one of them to you. Two models in the latest arrivals are especially attractive. One is a Russian blouse effect with the new round-neck feature while sleeves are three quarter length. Skirt and front of blouse is beautifully braided. Colors are brown and navy.

The other model, also in Georgette, comes with the square neck in front and the double collar in the back. Braid is also a feature of the trimmings while colors are white, flesh and bisque.

We have an excellent showing of waists in crepe de chine in both the light and heavy weights, many of which are artistically embroidered and trimmed. The heavier weights come in the high-low neck styles while the colors are flesh, white and bisque.

Many charming modes appear in taffetas in plaids and stripes, having both the low and the high-low neck features.

This one is very new. Mannish tailored waist in Scotch flannel, assorted solid colors and pin stripes. Priced $2.50.

MOUNTAIN HIKE CHILD'S PLAY. ASSERTION OF JUDGE COX

Would Join Chamber of Commerce Party If All Would Walk From City

Judge Cox thinks the members of the Chamber of Commerce party being organized for a hike to Saddleback are a bunch of pikers and refuses to go, because the hike does not start at Santa Ana instead of Modjeska's. "The climb to the top of Modjeska's is child's play," today declared the well known justice of the peace. "When I go on a hike I want something that will give me a little exercise. If you will organize your party and walk from Santa Ana I am with you."

Judge Cox will not be on the trip, but a number of the men who had signed for the trip last Saturday, which had to be postponed because of rain on the mountain, have signified their intention of going up next Saturday. Indications at this time point to the majority of the original party being ready for the climb next Saturday morning. Those who intend going and have not notified Secretary Metzgar should let him know by Thursday evening. This is necessary in order that J. B. Stephenson, who is in charge of eats, will know how many to prepare for. Provisions will be taken to the peak Friday, so that the party will not be encumbered in any way on the hike.

Leave at 8 a. m. The party will leave the city hall Saturday morning at 8 o'clock by automobile for Modjeska's. The autos will go by way of El Toro, this being the best road. Under present plans the hikers will take to the trail about 10 o'clock and should arrive on top of the mountain between 2 and 3 o'clock.

G. A. Schweiger, manager of Madame Modjeska's Home and Inn, is taking special interest in the affair and is offering special rates to any members of the party who might want to go up Friday evening and stay over night. He is making a special rate of 75 cents for a bed and 50 cents for breakfast and will prepare breakfast at any hour for those who might want to get an early start on the trail and reach the summit before the heat of the day.

BUSH TRAPS SKUNKS, COYOTE AND WILDCAT

ORANGE, Nov. 11.—J. M. Bush of the Passmore ranch is establishing something of a reputation as a trapper. About two weeks ago he caught three skunks and Saturday he trapped a big coyote. Sunday night a wild cat fell to his snare.

GIVEN 30 DAYS. John Wiggling, who in a complaint sworn to by Under Sheriff Jack Iman was accused of vagrancy, today pleaded guilty in justice court and was given a 30 day jail sentence.

Fred Parsons is now Proprietor of Local Drug Store

J. Fred Parsons has purchased the interest of his partner, J. P. Hatzfeld, in Hatzfeld & Parsons Drug Store, at the corner of Fourth and Bush streets.

Parsons entered the drug business at this location thirteen years ago with the firm of Hervey & Parsons. Nine years ago, J. P. Hatzfeld bought the interest of Dr. A. R. Hervey in the store, and since then the firm has been Hatzfeld & Parsons.

By the transaction just concluded, Parsons becomes sole owner of the store. Hatzfeld, who recently sold his ten-acre Valencia grove at Placentia for $50,000, will commence the construction of a residence upon property at Tustin recently bought by him, and will make his home there.

BIXBY COMPANY TO SUBDIVIDE 145 ACRES

A tract of 145 acres of oranges, lemons and walnuts at Villa Park is to be subdivided and sold. The sale of the property, owned by the Jotham Bixby Co., will probably mean the building of half a dozen new homes.

The tract is a part of the big Bixby ranch at Villa Park. It lies to the east of the driveway leading up the hill to the ranch residence, occupied by Hugh T. Thomson, superintendent of the Bixby interests at Villa Park.

The tract is being prepared for the market and will be sold by Thomson and Willard Smith. Roads through the tract are now being built under the supervision of these two men.

Another project of the Bixby interests that is to be realized next spring will be the planting of 220 acres to oranges. This piece of land lies in a little valley just north of the ranch house. The valley slopes toward the east and has its exit near the Billingsley place. Thomson and Smith will have charge of the development of this tract.

APPEALS FROM BEACH COURT'S JUDGMENT

An appeal, which was on file today in superior court, has been taken by Attorney A. P. Nelson from a judgment rendered against him by Justice C. W. Warner at Huntington Beach in an action wherein the attorney sought $10, which he alleged Lawrence and Emma Davis owed him for services rendered on an agreement calling for $45. The defendants introduced evidence that through a second agreement the amount was cut to $35, which they paid Nelson. The plaintiff alleged that there had been no second agreement.

CHARGES CRUELTY TO ANIMALS. Constable Jesse Elliott today swore to a complaint charging Edward Redlick with cruelty to animals.

DUCKS GALORE IN IMPERIAL ARE FOUND BY HUNTERS

Santa Anans Kill All They Want In One Night's Shooting

Ducks, then more ducks, with farmers extending invitations to all hunters to come and kill all they can—this is the situation that obtains at Calipatria, in the Imperial valley, and Elmer Preston, of Livesey's, has been there and seen conditions.

Preston accompanied a party of Los Angeles friends and H. G. Miller and son of this city on an excursion to the valley in quest of ducks, and one night's hunting was all they wanted, for they killed 127 in one evening's shooting.

"Ducks are there by the thousands," declared Preston today. "They are doing great damage to grain crops, and farmers are inviting hunters to come and hunt as long as they please. It is sure great sport. The birds are there in flocks, and while night shooting is prohibited under a state law, it is permissible there in view of the great destruction by the birds."

"Hunting is in the open. Farmers plant their seed and then flood their lands and the birds come in droves and eat up the seed. When the flooding is in progress the farmers turn hunters loose on the land and help them in every way they can in slaughtering the pests."

"Local hunters who want to go down will be most welcome. They can inquire from sporting goods men anywhere and they will be directed to the best hunting points. It is sure great sport and worth the long trip even for one night or day of hunting. Our party killed 127 in a short time in one night and returned home more than satisfied with the sport."

Sufferers From Tuberculosis Welcomed And Given Care in N. Y. Apartment House

Building Has Roof Garden, Nurse In Attendance and Dining Room

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—In this day of rent profiteering and the barring of children and sick persons from apartment houses, New York has something to offer in the way of an innovation. It is an apartment house that caters exclusively to families with tuberculosis.

It is known as the Victoria apartment and is a humanitarian project. Those back of the enterprise planned it so that families whose members were victims of the dreaded disease might be kept together rather than be broken up if the mother or father had to go to a sanitarium. The rental is kept at a low figure and patients get the best of care. There is a roof garden on the house for sick persons and nurses are kept in attendance. Also there is a dining room for families in which the mother is unable to do the cooking. The place is full all the time and as fast as cures are effected new quarters are found for families who are compelled to move out to make room for the many others on the waiting list.

LAGUNA BEACH ART GALLERY STILL OPEN

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 11.—The Laguna Beach Art Gallery is to be kept open to the public. That is decided, and the "lay of the ground" is presented as follows in a communication signed F. H.:

"What is an artist? He is one in whose work, taste and imagination preside over the execution. The two essential attributes of an artist, then, are—taste and imagination. One may perfect one's taste, but a susceptibility of art is inborn. And to beautify the common things of daily use, that is the simple beginning of the world of art."

"Outsiders, to those not strictly within the sacred circle of the world of art, its devotees, the artists, may appear abnormal, bizarre, as a rule devoid of the commercial instinct. But anyone who has consecrated his life to the service of art has no longer the right to live like others. Art is the most individual creation of the most individual emotion, and real art is good company."

"In this connection, and for the benefit of those who long for good company, the local art gallery will be open every day this winter. The custodian's term of office expired, but a few of the members of the association volunteered to take charge, in turn, during certain hours of the day."

"Admission is absolutely free; you will not be importuned, for instance, for donations to some institution for feeble-minded artists; the fact of your entering the building shall not be considered an obligation on your part to buy a picture. It is assumed that you come for the exhibition."

"Should one of the pictures appeal so strongly to your sense of the beautiful that you crave its possession, the lady then in charge, upon an intimation from you to that effect, is ready to conclude the transaction."

Phone Subscriptions Here Are Showing Steady Gains Declares Manger Morrow

STEADY gains are being shown on the books of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in the matter of new subscribers received, according to E. S. Morrow, local manager, today. On some days, Morrow said, as high as six or eight subscriptions for telephones are received. Approximately fifty per cent of those applying are subscribers who, beginning early last summer, when the rates were raised and a toll charge put in effect between Santa Ana and nearby points where formerly no charge had been made, had their telephones disconnected.

The remainder of the subscriptions received now are from people who never before had telephones, according to Morrow.

The local manager states that the rate of increase is higher in Santa Ana and Anaheim than in some other points in the county.

In May, June and July, subsequent to the increase in rates, there was a steady decline in the number of subscribers, approximately 650 telephones being ordered removed. In August, September, October and so far during the present month there has been an equally steady gain in subscribers, according to Morrow.

A service connection charge of $2.50 is made upon the installation of a telephone. This sum is refunded at the end of a year. The installation charge was not refunded while telephone systems were under government control.

"We are gaining subscribers steadily," Morrow said.

The Orange County Farmers and Merchants' association, created for the purpose of instituting a mutual system in the county with free toll throughout the county, is now engaged in working out legal details of operation, and for this reason there has been no particular activity on the part of the directors recently.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS CHARGE BRINGS FINE

Charged with cruelty to animals, Edward Redlick in justice court was fined $25, which he paid. Redlick was arrested on the Ball road in the Magdalena school district by Constables Elliott and Carter. Testimony given by the officers showed that Redlick had hobbled a horse around the forelegs with a chain in such a manner as to cut into the horse's flesh. In addition to this, the officers testified, Redlick had fastened a chain from the halter to the chain attached to the animal's legs.

PROJECT UNDER DISCUSSION AT CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Possible Increased Rent For Present Building Brings Up the Subject

A city-owned fire hall on the site of the old city jail, on Sycamore street, between Second and Third streets, is projected by the city solons, and the matter was discussed in its various angles informally last night at a special meeting of the city council.

The present fire hall was built some years ago by a number of members of the volunteer fire department and ownership of the property is now vested in eleven men, some of whom were former members of the fire company and some of whom are still members. The city has been paying a rental of $50 per month. The holding company has offered to sell the city the property at a figure approximating $12,000, giving informal notice that rent would probably be raised about the first of the year to $100 per month. Formal notice is expected to be served about the first of next month.

The jail site is 50x125 feet and it was suggested that the city construct a fire hall on it, doing away with the jail, or locating it on the back part of the lot. The councilmen believe that it would be cheaper for the city to put up a $10,000 or $12,000 building than pay $100 per month rent. With a new hall there would be increased facilities for the department.

Would Remove Telephone Poles. Discussion of the point was brought up on a request of City Electrician McCulloch for information. He stated that E. S. Morrow, local manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, had told him that the company wished to remove telephone poles on Sycamore street, and McCulloch wanted to know whether the council contemplated erection of a new fire hall on the jail site. Wires for the alarm system are run on the telephone poles, and if the council proposes to change the location of its central fire station, McCulloch said that if the alarm system wires went under ground the work should be done with a view to making them available to the hall in a new location.

With the city expanding as it is, Fire Chief Luxembourg said that it would be only a matter of a short time until the department would have to have one or two stations outside the business district. He expressed the opinion that one should be located at this time in the extreme eastern portion of the city.

The recent fire on South Main street brought forcibly to the attention of the public the necessity of more fire fighting equipment. At that time every available piece of fire fighting machinery and equipment was brought into action. Had a fire broken out in another part of the city at the same time, the department would have been unable to cope with it.

Fire Engine Needed. In the opinion of the fire chief, the time has come when Santa Ana should have a steam fire engine, with an additional big main through the business section for protection of this district. With a fire engine, water could be pumped direct from the main in larger volume and with greater force than is obtainable under the present system of pressure at the water power plant.

With direct pressure to the mains from the water works, a stream of water cannot be forced more than two stories high, and in case a serious conflagration in the business district should break out, the department would be seriously handicapped, and the city might suffer severe fire damages that could be prevented under the fire engine system.

The council meeting last night was called for a special purpose, to conclude the purchase of a truck and trailer and to advertise for the sale of street sweepings, garbage and fer-

ORANGE, Nov. 11.—A reception in honor of returned soldiers who were members of the I. O. O. F. was held at the lodge rooms and was attended by a crowd of about two hundred people.

The guests of honor were Major Up- ham, Captain Chapline, Lieut. Perry, Oscar Beem, Walter Schilling, Chas. Wallace and Henry Osmun. Sherman Gillogly, Y. M. C. A. representative, was also an honor guest.

An excellent program was presented as the main feature of the evening. D. G. Wettlin acted as chairman and opened the evening with an interesting review of the work of the Odd Fellows. The audience sang "America" and gave the salute to the flag. There was an instrumental number by Mr. Cralthers, and a reading by Miss Dennis, a solo by Mrs. C. A. Palmer, and a sketch, "Georgia Recruiting Office." This was followed by an excellent address by F. C. Drumm, who expressed the admiration and fellowship of the lodge to the service men.

Pictures of the service men were placed on the lodge service flag. Pins which had been ordered as gifts for the soldiers failed to arrive, but will be presented when they come. A splendid banquet followed the program.

ADVISES TRUCKS LOAD TWO-THIRDS CAPACITY

According to advices to the local branch of the Auto Club of Southern California today, Steele Finley, paving contractor on county work in Santa Ana canyon, is working a force in tearing up the dirt at this end of the pavement in the canyon. He advises that trucks being sent over this route be loaded only to about two-thirds of their capacity. Owing to conditions there it will be impossible for him to construct a by-pass and the road will be kept open by paving only half of the road width at one time.

This condition applies immediately at the end of the paving. Beyond that the road is in good condition. An excellent by-pass has been provided just this side of the foot of Sulphur mountain, where paving is now being laid.

NATIONAL ANTI-ALIEN LAW WILL BE URGED

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 10.—A national anti-alien law that would prohibit persons not eligible to American citizenship from owning or leasing land will be the main resolution which the California delegates to the national convention of the American Legion at Minneapolis will fight for.

The proposed law is based on the present California anti-alien land laws which prohibit Orientals from owning land in the state, but its provisions are even more strict in interpretation.

PASADENA, Nov. 11.—Pledging aid to make the New Year's Day Tournament of Roses bigger and more elaborate than all former pageants, representatives of more than fifty Southern California cities participated in a banquet at the Maryland hotel last night.

200,000 POLES WAIT
CHANCE TO GET HOME

WARSAW, Nov. 11.—Twenty-nine Poles who have just completed a pilgrimage of many months from the heart of Siberia to the newly-redeemed city of Minsk, have brought the news that at least 200,000 men taken prisoner by the Austrians are waiting in Siberia for an opportune moment to return to Poland.

According to the newly-returned refugees who were themselves Austrian prisoners of war, western Siberia is full of homeless men claiming Polish nationality. Several among them placed the number as high as 500,000. The problem created in Poland by the returning prisoners and refugees is already acute, the government being forced to rely heavily on Red Cross help to feed and clothe them. Should the number of refugees still to return be in keeping with the estimate brought by the new arrivals, it will mean an enormous additional burden.

$10 For Writing
Us An Advertisement

Gerrard Bros. have just finished a very interesting ad-writing contest. Each of the clerks in the two Santa Ana Stores has written an advertisement. The friends of these clerks have been clipping the ads they thought were best and taking them to the stores, and in that way voting for their favorite clerk. Prizes are being awarded the clerks on that score and another set of prizes are being awarded for the best ads according to the judgment of the advertising department of the Register. Prizes have been awarded as follows:

- For the most ads clipped and brought in—
First Prize, Miss Rash, $2.00.
Second Prize, Mrs. Wilkenson, $1.00.
Third Prize, Mr. Whitehead, 50c.

- Best Ad on Register's Judgment—
First Prize, W. H. Whitehead.
Second Prize, Geo. Jenkins.
Third Prize, Edna Rash.

All the other clerks have handed in excellent advertisements and the Register's advertising men had a strenuous time in deciding between them. The management of the two stores is very grateful for the interest the clerks have taken. It demonstrates a spirit of co-operation that is truly gratifying.

And now for the contest among the Gerrard Bros. customers.

The best ten advertisements handed in at either of the Santa Ana stores will be published in the Register. A set of judges have been selected in the Register office and the three best ads of the ten which are published will be awarded handsome prizes.

- For the best ad a prize of a $10.00 coupon book will be given.
For the second best a prize of a $5.00 coupon book will be given.
For the third best a prize of one quart of Old Manse Syrup will be awarded.

These coupon books will be good for their face value in trade at either of the two Santa Ana Stores.

WANT THESE PRIZES?

All you have to do is to write an advertisement. Just think of the best reasons you know of why YOU trade here yourself. You may write about the service, or the quality, or the prices, or anything you wish to. The advertisements will be judged solely on their merits. An advertisement is merely salesmanship on paper, that's all. Write your ad out and hand it in as soon as possible. Nobody is barred and the more the merrier.
